

Summer Internship 2023: Migration and Forced Labor Programs (based in Washington, DC)

The Solidarity Center is the largest U.S.-based international worker rights organization helping workers attain safe and healthy workplaces, family-supporting wages, dignity on the job and greater equity at work and in their community. Allied with the AFL-CIO, the Solidarity Center assists workers across the globe as, together, they fight discrimination, exploitation and the systems that entrench poverty—to achieve shared prosperity in the global economy.

The Solidarity Center provides a wide range of education, training, research, legal support, and other resources to help build strong and effective trade unions and more just and equitable societies. Our programs—in some 60 countries—focus on human and worker rights, union skills, occupational safety and health, economic literacy, human trafficking, women’s empowerment, and bolstering workers in an increasingly informal economy.

The Solidarity Center’s headquarters in Washington, DC is offering in-person internships to undergraduate and graduate students and recent university/college graduates during the summer 2023. Solidarity Center internships provide a great opportunity to work for social justice globally.

Interns are required to work full-time (35 hours per week), 5 days a week, for 10 weeks. Work will be conducted from the Solidarity Center’s headquarters office in Washington, DC. Full-time interns will receive a $6,000 stipend during their internship.

Please note, COVID-19 vaccinations and boosters are mandatory for all employees and interns.

Position: Migration and Forced Labor Programs Intern

Location: Washington, DC

Time-period: June-August 2023, full-time (35 hours per week, 5 days a week, 10 weeks)

Position Description: The intern will assist the migration/forced labor program with the following:

Responsibilities:

1. Research: Carry out research from primary and secondary sources including internet research that will help inform program staff on the following topics:
 - a. Wage theft of migrant workers
 - b. Nexus/link between women workers, gender and migration
 - c. Indicators of forced labor, linkages with trade/supply chains
 - c. Other short and long-term research projects on worker rights, as needed.
2. Attend internal organizational and public online forums/roundtables/panel discussions addressing labor rights and related issues relevant to Solidarity Center work and draft briefings
3. Synthesize reports on related topics
4. Attend and provide support to program staff with events and workshops
5. Assist with writing articles for the Solidarity Center’s website on related topics
6. Participate in Solidarity Center’s Migration Working Group

Qualifications:

- Demonstrated interest in social justice and worker rights.

- Background knowledge of migration and forced labor issues as they relate to human rights.
- Demonstrated excellent writing skills.
- Good qualitative and quantitative research skills
- Very good computer skills including word processing and Excel.
- Ability to meet deadlines, and work under short deadlines and quick turnaround requests.
- Familiarity with economic development issues and understanding of issues regarding implementation of international development programs.
- Good communication and interpersonal skills.
- Good judgment and ability to think creatively.
- Ability to work independently.

Deadline: Applications are being accepted until the position is filled.

To apply: To apply, submit a cover letter, resume, and writing sample (3-5 pages) to Solidarity Center Internship Coordinator, Nalishha Mehta, at nmehta@solidaritycenter.org.

Please indicate the specific internship you are applying for in your cover letter and submit all documents as Word or PDF attachments to the email. If you are applying for more than one internship, please submit a separate application for each internship. Please no telephone calls. Due to capacity constraints, only short-listed candidates will be contacted.

The Solidarity Center is an equal employment opportunity employer that does not discriminate against any person employed or seeking employment based on race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national or ethnic origin, age, marital status, disability, veteran status, or any other status protected under applicable law. Candidates from traditionally underrepresented groups are strongly encouraged to apply.